

EIGHT ARE KILLED WHEN TRAINS MEET

Fifteen Passengers Injured, Two of Whom May Die.

ORDERS ARE OVERLOOKED

Passenger and Freight Crash Together, Head-On, Near Pegram.

NASHVILLE, TENN., September 15.—As the result of a head-on collision between passenger train No. 4 and fast freight No. 51 on the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railway, one mile west of Pegram Station, Tenn., today eight train men were killed and fifteen passengers injured, two fatally perhaps.

The dead: William Mogan, Nashville, traveling engineer; body burned. Joseph Gower, Nashville, engineer on passenger train; body burned. Jesse Tarkington, engineer on the freight; body burned. Walter Rouch, messenger; body burned. Samuel White, fireman; body burned. S. B. Weep, head brakeman. W. S. Statum, mail clerk, Marden, Tenn.

L. F. Bailey, mail clerk, Martin, Tenn.; body burned. Ellis Martin, conductor on the freight, and Bob Huley, fireman, of Nashville, were badly injured. Both engines were completely wrecked. William Mogan, the traveling engineer, who was killed, was for years the private engineer of the late President J. W. Thomas, of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railway, but had just returned from a meeting of the Brotherhood of Engineers at Denver.

The collision occurred about 8 o'clock this morning. The wreckage at once caught fire. The baggage, mail, express and mail cars were piled up, and the freight cars were crushed. One bag of mail was saved. Through the almost superhuman strength exerted by the passengers, the three day coaches and the Pullman were pushed back from the fire and the engine saved.

It is the general impression among the passengers and trainmen that the fault was with the passenger crew. The collision occurred about 8 o'clock this morning. The wreckage at once caught fire. The baggage, mail, express and mail cars were piled up, and the freight cars were crushed. One bag of mail was saved. Through the almost superhuman strength exerted by the passengers, the three day coaches and the Pullman were pushed back from the fire and the engine saved.

Great is the relief which the condemned prisoner feels, as standing upon the gallows platform, right over the trapdoor of death, he sees the flying counterpane of a pardon in the sky. All night they were troubled by visions of blackboards, covered with a million figures and Latin words never in any vocabulary; of zero spotted reports, of frowning teachers, of prison cells where the binomial theorem and the pendulum swung when they were over the chained bodies of high school pupils.

While their elders may have heaped imprecations upon the head of whoever was responsible for the delay in opening the High School, the thousands of pupils showered a thousand blessings upon his head. Every cloud, farsooth, has a silver lining, and it was no ill wind that blew the school doors shut, say its prospective inmates.

Glady and Estelle celebrated the suspension of sentence by imbibing many cherry-decked glasses of ice cream, and Willie, instead of having to grind out a few pages in physics, geometry, Latin and many other subjects, turned up his trousers another foot higher, took out his pipe when he got two blocks from home, and went down Broad Street in his dignity, giving an imitation of a drum major in a minstrel parade.

Gloomy Gus, the grind, was the only disconsolate, the one discord to the symphony of school world delight. All summer the other boys have been gleaning exhibitions of their prowess in aquatic sports, in baseball or in the budding art of love-making, while Gus, unskilled in these minor things, wiped his spectacles and awaited the day when he would prove in the classroom by his mental power that mind is superior to matter. Gus, with a sour look, went back to his house and wrote three erudite essays in advance for his beloved English teacher.

Clotson, and discussing the resolution which will be presented to that body, providing for having the portraits of the three former judges of the court hung in the courtroom. The judges are S. Bassett French, John H. Ingram and William I. Clotson.

Church Corner-Stone Laid. A large number of Manchester citizens attended the laying of the corner-stone of the new Methodist Episcopal Church, Tuesday morning, Rev. George W. McDaniel, of Richmond, was the principal speaker. Following the ceremony a sumptuous luncheon was served.

Many Lodges Meet. Henderson Lodge, Odd-Fellows, will meet to-night at Eleventh and Hull Streets to confer the first degree. Stewart Lodge, Odd-Fellows, held a meeting last night at Tenth and Hull Streets. The first degree was conferred.

Persons and Briefs. Miss Kate Dobbin and Douglas Lowry, of Richmond, were married in Washington Tuesday. The bride is a former Manchester girl, and is the daughter of Charles Dobbin. The couple will make their home on the street department.

Miss Annie Reynolds, of Danville, is visiting Miss May Critchfield, of Tenth and Decatur Streets. Miss Addie Criddle, daughter of Dr. R. W. Criddle, has left for Bedford City, where she will assume her duties as teacher in education and physical culture in the Jeter Institute.

Miss Fann French, who has been spending several weeks at Buffalo Lithia Springs, has returned to the city. A meeting of the Licking Creek Club was held last night at the residence of A. A. Adkins, at Twelfth and Hull Streets.

Bar Association Meets. Next Monday the Court will convene. The first day of the term will be devoted largely to holding memorial exercises.

TELS OF FLAGS RAISED AT POLE

First Banner Peary Unfurled Was Given to Him by Wife.

PEACE FLAG ALSO FLYING

Commander's Negro Lieutenant Tells His Story of Northern Dash.

BATTLE HARBOR, LABRADOR, by Wireless, VIA CAPE RAT, September 12.—Commander Peary conversed further to-day with the representative of the Associated Press regarding his journey to the North Pole. He spoke particularly of the flags he raised at the pole and the records he left there, and he touched again on some of the assertions credited to Dr. Frederick A. Cook.

Commander Peary said that when he reached the pole the first flag to be thrown to the breezes was a silken American emblem presented to him by his wife fifteen years ago. He had carried this flag on every one of his expeditions to the north, leaving a piece of it at the highest point he attained. The last remnants were raised and left at the pole. The explorer then raised the navy ensign, the flag of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, and finally a flag of peace.

Commander Peary to-day received a cablegram asking him to make a statement regarding a report from a Danish source that he had posted a notice on the Greenland coast to the effect that Dr. Cook had been the first to reach the pole. The explorer said to the Associated Press representative that he knew nothing of this; that it evidently was a newspaper publication. In referring to the reception being planned for him when he returned home, Commander Peary asked the Associated Press to publish the following statement:

"From such fragmentary reports as I have received I am more touched, gratified and honored than I can say at the way the public has treated my work."

"We hoisted the Stars and Stripes twice at the North Pole," said Matthew Henson, Commander Peary's colored lieutenant, and the only other civilized man, according to Peary, who ever reached the pole.

Henson to-night gave to the Associated Press an account of the one night and two days he and Commander Peary and four Eskimos camped at ninety degrees north latitude. Henson personally assisted in raising the American flag, and he led the Eskimos in the cheers, and an extra cheer for Old Glory in the Eskimo tongue.

"Having spent eighteen years with Commander Peary, and a considerable portion of that time in the Arctic," said Henson, "I have acquired a knowledge of dialect of the Northern Greenland Eskimos. As is commonly known to travelers, the far north, the Eskimo entertains a strange prejudice toward any tongue but one, and it is therefore necessary for successful dealing with them to study their unwritten language."

"Having spent the night just before noon, April 6, the party, consisting of the commander, myself, four Eskimos and thirty-six dogs, divided into two detachments equal in number, and headed respectively by Commander Peary and myself. We had left the camp at midnight, and after a long march, we were separated from Captain Bartlett, who was photographed by the commander."

Captain Bartlett regretted that he did not have a British flag to erect at the pole, and he said that a photograph might show this as the farthest north to which the banner of the British had advanced.

"I kept a personal diary during this historic dash across the field. Our first task on reaching the pole was to build two igloos, as the weather was hazy and prevented taking accurate observations to confirm the distance traveled from Cape Columbia. Having completed the snow houses, we had dinner, which included tea made on our alcohol stove, and then retired to rest, thus sitting one night at the North Pole."

"The Arctic sun was shining when I awoke and found the commander already up. There was only wind enough to blow out the small flags. The ensigns were hoisted toward noon from the pole, and the distance was pretty closely, and did not go beyond the pole. The flags were up about midnight, and were not moved until late that evening. The haze had cleared away early, but we waited some hours to take observations. We made three close together."

Backache Cured Beauty Restored

When the liver becomes congested and sluggish, biliousness, coated tongue, dull look in the eyes, and sallow skin follow. Backache, headache and a tired-out feeling add to the sufferer's troubles. Warner's Safe Cure cures Kidney, Bladder, Liver Troubles and Rheumatism.

Mrs. Emma Arnold, of Kersey, Col., writes that her liver was out of order, and this caused backache, headache and a tired-out feeling, and after trying many other remedies, without good results, took Warner's Safe Cure. Inside of two months she was a "well woman."

"I hesitated a long time about using Warner's Safe Cure for liver trouble, from which I suffered. I did not really have much faith in it, as I had tried so many other medicines without good results; but I am pleased to state that it proved to be better than all the rest. In two months after I began using Warner's Safe Cure I was a well woman, no longer suffering with backache, headache and that run-down condition that make one feel so out of sorts and depressed."
